

KI-DO KARATE OF HIGHLAND AWARDED AS TOP 200 SCHOOL — Ki-Do Karate was recently recognized with a top 200 school award. Ki-Do Karate consists of, front row from left, Zach Rakers, Alena Miller, Shane Zobrist, Jordan Mclain, Landon Wolf, and Brandon Lanham; back row, Jeremy Kloss, Heather Hendershott, Melissa Bossler, Austin Brown, Blair Brefeld, Jenna Diaz, Jonathon Rose, Adam Henrichs, Dave Daiber, Alex Korte, Dominic Cipicchio and Ryan Turner.

Ki-Do Karate receives Top 200 Schools Award

Ki-Do Karate Inc. of Highland was recently honored for being in the top 200 Black Belt International Schools out of 900 schools worldwide.

Ki-Do Karate received the award at Black Belt School International's Martial Arts Studio Expo in Orlando, Fla., in December. The top 200 schools were recognized for outstanding commitment to their students through the excellent programs and services they provide.

Master instructor David Daiber accepted the award.

"We were very honored to be recognized two years in a row by one of the largest martial arts associations for providing excellence in what we enjoy doing," Daiber said.

Ki-Do Karate offers 10 pro-

"We were very honored to be recognized two years in a row by one of the largest martial arts associations for providing excellence in what we enjoy doing."

David Daiber
Karate instructor

grams to help students achieve Black Belt and beyond. Ki-Do Karate offers several children's programs for students as young as 4 years old. These programs were designed by child psychologists and top martial artists to help students develop respect, confidence, discipline and concentration, as well as physical skills.

Ki-Do Karate also offers programs for teens and adults and special courses for students interested in developing leadership skills and/or becoming instructors.

"I feel that our secret of success is our highly trained instructors and leadership students. They instill the skills needed to achieve Black Belt through fun and exciting classes," said Daiber.

For more information about the martial arts or to enroll in classes, call Ki-Do Karate at 654-KICK (5425).